

MY AUNTY WENDY

I love my aunty Wendy alot. Her flamboyant personality is a very unique and likeable personality, she doesn't care about who judges her or what she looks like and she is astonishingly kind.

Aunty Wendy has blond curly hair with some brown streaks which comes down to about her shoulders. She has a very unique body shape. Her legs are very skinny and she has a pear shaped body. She always dresses in bright cheerful clothes which keeps her positive and not feeling glum.

Now one of the most unique, likeable and distinctive traits about my aunty Wendy is her personality. She lives in the village of Mt Somers and pretty much everyone there knows who she is and can approach her for a chat. The reason she is so approachable and every one knows her, is because her flamboyant personality is so humorous, she doesn't put herself before anyone else, and is absolutely, ridiculously kind. Which brings me to the next point, her kindness.

I am staying with my aunty Wendy now and it is astonishing how kind and loving she is towards me. Every afternoon when I walk into the house she is baking a cake or biscuits for my school lunch. She draws the curtains in my room and makes my bed every day while I am at school. One of the most astonishingly kind things about my aunty Wendy, is that she still spoils me and does alot for me like taking me into Christchurch and back again most weekends for hockey, even with her mother very ill in hospital. It is humanly impossible to describe how kind she is.

I love my aunty Wendy because of her flamboyant personality, her astonishing kindness, her cheerfulness and the way she doesn't care about anyone judging her.
